Winter Education Seminar

by Stuart Eyman

Approximately 100 members attended the GCSACC annual Winter Seminar held on January 18th at Plymouth Country Club.

Opening the seminar was Taryn LaScola, from the Massachusetts Pesticide Board. She covered topics ranging from pesticide basics, E-Licensing, and 25B products. Taryn mentioned that it is a good idea to stay up on the current laws and regulations and keep informed about any new laws or regulations that might be enacted. She mentioned the steps that a pesticide must go through to be registered by the EPA and the State of Massachusetts. Even if a product receives Federal Registration, it may not receive State Registration. Taryn said the State can make products restrictive use even if the EPA classifies them as general use. You can find this either by asking your supplier or checking the State's website. She also reminded us that sending a non-licensed person to pick up or transport pesticides is illegal.

Basic record keeping was discussed with an emphasis on adding as much information as possible to your records. Some examples would be adding weather conditions, any people in the area at the time of application, or any issues that might have occurred during your treatment. She closed her talk with the new E-Licensing system. Taryn said that if you started your registration before December 31, 2017 but have not received your license yet, you will be able to spray in 2018.

Our next speaker was Vincent Cahill who discussed the importance of good financial planning. He said you must plan for events that are beyond your control, like accidents, sickness, etc. He suggested that you should put money aside for the unexpected and you should set up a budget. Mr. Cahill explained that you are the most important asset. If you can't work then you must consider what would happen to your family. Therefore, some sort of a disability policy is a good idea.

Dr. Nathaniel Mitkowski concluded our seminar with his talk on the control of Nematodes. He mentioned that Nematode counts have been rising over the past 20 years and discussed some of the possible reasons, like the loss of the heavy metal pesticides that use to control them. Even though these pesticides don't move in the soil, constant sand top-dressing over the years has buried them to the point where Nematodes don't come in contact with them anymore.

Dr. Mitkowski also discussed the various Nematode types, threshold levels, and the kind of damage they cause. He touched on the various sampling methods used to detect them and the various control products that are available. He concluded his talk with stressing the importance of early detection and control.

President's Message

As I start out my second and final year as your president, I would like to wish everyone a Happy New Year and continued success in 2018. For some of us this winter has been a change of scenery, a new opportunity, or a chance to take some time off and reflect where we are and where we are going. For me, I am striving to make 2018 better than 2017 and I hope you will do the same.

I recently returned from the GCSAA Golf Industry Show (GIS) in San Antonio, Texas. It has been several years since I have been to a national show, and I came home with a renewed feeling about our industry. I was very fortunate to receive a Melrose Leadership Academy Award and had the pleasure to spend the week with 18 other superintendents from across the country. We talked about the struggles and successes of each person and the difficulties that face each of us at our facilities. It was very enlightening and informative, and I would highly recommend others apply for it next year. Kevin Doyle provided me with the information necessary to apply, and he deserves a lot of credit as his Northeastern Territory was well represented. Along with the new up and coming technologies at the trade show, there were also some great educational opportunities.

I would like to thank Plymouth Country Club and Ben Whiting for hosting the educational seminar in January. It was a great setting to have the event, and the lunch that was provided capped off the successful day. Also, thanks to Peter Lanman for working hard to secure the speakers and make sure that we all received education credits. We also recently had our winter fun day at South Shore Country Club. Thanks to Jay McGrail and staff for hosting the event and to John Bresnahan for setting it up. It's always fun catching up with friends over bowling, golfing and great food.

Lastly, let's please try to get our economic impact study surveys completed if possible. Many people in San Antonio at the GCSAA GIS wanted to know the results of our survey and how to go about doing one of their own. Many chapters nationwide are looking to our local chapter, and it's going to be in our best interest to have a professional document that we can refer to. I hope to see you all soon at the New England show.

Sincerely,
Brian

Honoring Steve Rabideau

The very name "Winged Foot" has a sort of magic for those who know the club from afar. To them it stands for competitive golf at its highest level -- a place where history was made by Bobby Jones... and others. But for those who know Winged Foot intimately, it is much more fun and meaningful than a place of big occasions. It is a steady heartbeat of golfing pleasure and sportsmanship, where the game is the thing and where many great matches and tall tales have been spun. Winged Foot is, in sum, a temple to the spirit of golf."

Economic Impact Study

We have provided 44 businesses with the survey that needs to be completed and have 23 finished surveys entered into the consultant's software. This is only a 52% response and does not substantiate a true representation of the VALUE of golf to the Cape Cod Economy. We need more of the Cape and Islands superintendents to move this survey through to completion if the finished report is to be accepted and respected by those with whom we intend to present the results.

No more calls. No more begging. The quality of this publication is up to you. The season is upon us. Your daily workload will soon become overwhelming. If you need to receive another link to the survey; someone to promote the benefit of this survey to your owners; help living up to the obligation we committed ourselves to three years ago then get in touch with me.

Bylaw/Code of Ethics Changes

The chapter delegates of GCSAA approved changes to the rules of membership conduct. The Cape Cod Chapter of GCSAA will start rewriting the same to comply, as well as create Standard Operating Procedures for the Board of Directors and create a new Retired member classification.

Best Management Practices (BMP)

The Golf MA BMP has been temporarily corralled to allow the development of the NE Golf BMP first. This initiative is being pursued by representatives of all seven chapters, educators and consultants from all six states in an attempt save the NE chapters money when they work on their state specific edition. We don't see this as problematic to our commitment to GCSAA and will be extending our timelines accordingly. Anyone who would like to help, by all means get in touch with me.

Kevin's GCSAA Corner

By Kevin Doyle, GCSAA Northeast Field Representative

In case you missed the information coming out of GIS in San Antonio, below are some excerpts from GCSAA communications detailing some of the highlights. You will find that many of those highlights have a Northeast region spin!

Your 2018 GCSAA Board of Directors:

Darren J. Davis, the golf course superintendent at Olde Florida Golf Club in Naples, Fla., has been elected to a one-year term as president of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) at the association's annual meeting Feb. 8, held in conjunction with the Golf Industry Show in San Antonio.

Davis, a certified golf course superintendent (CGCS), served as vice president of the association in 2017 and has been a member of the association's board of directors since 2012. A 28-year member of GCSAA, Davis is a past president of the Everglades GCSA and a past president of the Florida GCSA and Florida Turfgrass Association. He is currently a director with the Musser International Turfgrass Foundation. In 2004, the FGCSA honored him with its Distinguished Service Award, and in 2011 the FTGA presented Davis with the Wreath of Grass - the association's highest award.

Other elected officers were Rafael Barajas, CGCS and director of golf course operations at Boca Grove Plantation in Boca Raton, Fla., as vice president, and John R. Fulling Jr., CGCS and grounds and facilities manager at Kalamazoo (Mich.) Country Club, as secretary/treasurer.

Board members Kevin P. Breen, CGCS and golf course superintendent at La Rinconada Country Club in Los Gatos, Calif., and Kevin P. Sunderman, director of grounds at Isla Del Sol Yacht and Country Club in St. Petersburg, Fla., were elected to serve again. While T.A. Barker, CGCS and superintendent at Fore Lakes Golf Course in Taylorsville, Utah; and Jeff L. White, CGCS and superintendent at Indian Hills Country Club in Prairie Village, Kan., were newly elected to the board.

In addition, delegates voted to approve 11 changes to the association's bylaws.

In Other News:

The First Green Foundation (First Green) and Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) have signed a memorandum of understanding that will bring First Green under the umbrella of the GCSAA's philanthropic organization, the Environmental Institute for Golf (EIFG). The agreement was announced at the 2018 Golf Industry Show in San Antonio.

First Green, an innovative education outreach program using golf courses as hands-on environmental learning labs, has worked with golf course superintendents extensively for more than 20 years. Superintendents form the backbone of First Green initiatives, hosting STEM-focused field trips for students grades five and up. First Green and GCSAA field staff representatives have collaborated to support golf courses and train superintendents, conducting field trips and instruction at GCSAA's affiliated chapters. In addition, First Green has held well-received workshops at the Golf Industry Show for several years.

Northeast Region Members Recognized:

Frank Rossi, Ph.D., associate professor at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., and one of the world's leading experts on turfgrass science, has been selected to receive the 2018 President's Award for Environmental Stewardship by the board of directors of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA).

The GCSAA President's Award for Environmental Stewardship was established in 1991 to recognize "an exceptional environmental contribution to the game of golf; a contribution that further exemplifies the golf course superintendent's image as a steward of the land."

In 2014, Rossi was instrumental in the development of Best Management Practices (BMPs) for New York State Golf Courses. The project was initiated in 2012 by the Metropolitan Golf Course Superintendents Association, and Rossi served as the lead author of the guidelines. Nearly two decades earlier, while working as a turfgrass environmental specialist at Michigan State University, he was key to the creation of the Michigan Turfgrass Environmental Stewardship Program, which was officially launched in 1998.

Chris Carson, the golf course superintendent at Echo Lake Country Club in Westfield, N.J., has been selected as the recipient of the 2017 Leo Feser Award from the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA). The award is presented annually to the author of the best superintendent-written article published in Golf Course Management, the association's flagship publication, during the previous year.

Carson's selection makes him the first three-time winner of the Leo Feser Award in the 40 years that GCSAA has presented it as an annual honor. Carson previously won in 2000 and 2007. The only other repeat winner of the Feser is Darren Davis, CGCS, from Olde Florida Golf Club in Naples, Fla., who won the award in 1997 and 2002.

Carson, a 32-year GCSAA member, authored the story "8 essential budgeting principles for superintendents," which was published in the October 2016 issue of GCM. The story offered readers time-tested tips on making successful budget requests and communicating with golf facility decisions-makers about how those requests will benefit the facility's playing surfaces and, ultimately, its bottom line.

"I wrote the article on the budgeting principles that have been successful for me over the years — the same principles I teach at Rutgers — as a way of helping my peers grow professionally," Carson said. "I've always enjoyed writing and the business aspects of our jobs, and putting my thoughts and ideas into print is one of the ways I try to give back to our profession.

Twenty members of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) were chosen for the 2018 Melrose Leadership Academy, which included a trip to the Golf Industry Show, Feb. 3-8 in San Antonio.

Academy members are chosen through an application process based on financial need, volunteerism and a drive to advance their careers. The new class participated in networking and leadership activities, as well as attended a variety of education seminars.

- Albert Choiniere of Essex (Vt.) Country Club.
- David F. D'Andrea of Sable Oaks Golf Club in South Portland, Maine.
- Andrew Fries, CGCS, of HB Brownson Country Club in Shelton, Conn.
- John Gabbeitt of Owl's Nest Golf Club in Campton, N.H.
- Ryan Green, CGCS, of Crystal Lake Golf Club in Haverhill, Mass.
- David W. Johnson of Wianno Club in Osterville, Mass.
- Gregory Klem, CGCS, of Monroe County Golf Courses in Rochester, N.Y.
- Manuel 'Joe' Oliveira of Green Valley Country Club in Portsmouth, R.I.
- Dennis Petruzzelli, CGCS, of Billy Casper Golf in Danbury, Conn.
- James J. Ritorto of Lake of Isles Golf Club and Resort in North Stonington, Conn.
- Brian Smoot of Crosswinds Golf Club in Plymouth, Mass.

Twelve assistant superintendent members of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) were chosen for the first class of the EXCEL Leadership Program, which is funded by Nufarm and administered by GCSAA's philanthropic organization, the Environmental Institute for Golf.

EXCEL offers leadership training for personal, career and community/industry stewardship exclusively for assistant superintendents. The name EXCEL represents the education, cross training, community, encouragement and leadership development that the program provides.

- Zachary Fleeger of Stowe Mountain Club in Stowe, Vt.
- Stephen Hicks of Brantford Golf & Country Club in Brantford, Ontario, Canada

Again, if I can be of any assistance, please feel free to contact me.

Spectacular Shortcut Bluegrass. Fantastic Fine Fescue. Beautiful Bentgrass. Only at Sodco.

Shortcut Bluegrass is a mix of Kentucky Bluegrass varieties, maintained at a height of 5/8 inch.

Our shortcut blue is grown with a blend of dwarf bluegrass to be able to handle the low height of cut, which makes this sod perfect for tee boxes.

Sodco's Fine Fescue is a 90/10 fescue/bluegrass blend that is ideal for golf course rough areas.

The fine fescue has a finer leaf blade that is more shade tolerant and requires less water and fertilizer than a standard bluegrass blend.

Sodco is currently growing Fairway Height Pennway Bentgrass, ideal for repairing and replacing fairways before the summer golf season.

Additionally, Sodco offers contract growing opportunities to meet your specific bentgrass variety needs.
